

ABSTRACT

A method for driver assistance and a driver assistance device which operates on the basis of lane information are provided, which lane information is ascertained from an image recorded 5 by an image sensor and/or estimated on the basis of objects in this image depending on the weather conditions.